

Catalogue

Stay secure and compliant with automated app update notifications and packages

Apptimized Catalogue - a database of the most common business applications and their packages, updated within 24 hours of a new release

Maintaining current software updates is a timely task for your technical team. To stay current you must either subscribe to the individual update services from vendor source or carry out regular self-testing. Both options are labourious, costly and not a full-proof solution.

However, even once you've received the new version notification, manually installing the application on each individual device is never a straightforward task. It can be overcome with software packaging, but an individual approach to each application, customising settings and testing in the environment adds significant effort and cost to each package.

BENEFITS TO YOUR ORGANIZATION

Fast simple packages

Apptimized has carefully created the most popular applications to the most common requirements adopting industry best practice.

Update on time

Catalogue saves time as we've done the hardwork for you, with new version releases available for download within 24 hours of release, making the new functionality available immediately

Secured packages

Minimizes the risks of installing a malicious application on your company's computers, which can lead to the failure of the entire system.

Key Product Features

Top modern application

With more than 150 of the most popular applications monitored by our experts, so you don't miss any new version releases. Once the announcement has been made on the vendor website, Apptimized will send out notifications of the new version availability to you. We aim to have all new releases updated and packaged, ready for download within 24 hours of release. Adopting this approach means you can quickly update to the new versions quickly across all company devices, minimizing risk of exposure to outside threats.

Zero vulnerabilities

However, before Appprimized releases new version downloads, each application is checked for viruses and malicious script, so no need to test before installing. If Apptimized find potential vendor vulnerabilities these will be available to view.

Package updates

Catalogue maintains over 30 of the most popular applications, which are released for installation within 24 hours after a new verion release. Apptimized, with over 15 years experience in software packaging, apply best practice to the packaging process and the most common technologies such as MSI and App-V.

Configure updates options

If the application has multiple branches, the notifications can be set in such a way that no release is missed for each of them. Apptimized offers a fully flexible notification system, allowing you to assign notifications of new releases to application owners or those responsible for their monitoring. So as not to be overwhelmed with notifications for applications not in your estate, you can select only those that apply to you.

Stay updated

Reports on your applications current status and additional information being monitored, can be downloaded straight from Apptimized in a convenient format.
